STANDARD: Written policy, procedure and practice require the Community Supervision Agency to adhere to the Interstate Compact on Juveniles (ICJ) Manual when supervising and transferring supervision of juveniles between States.

Closure of ICJ supervision cannot occur without the approval of the Juvenile Justice Authority assigned interstate compact staff.

If a case accepted for supervision in Kansas has the juvenile adjudicated of a subsequent crime by a Kansas court, the Kansas case shall prevail for supervision purposes based on the Kansas court order. The ongoing ICJ case from the sending state shall be continuously monitored until case closure.

DISCUSSION: The ICJ regulates the interstate transfer and supervision of juveniles. Compliance with the compact ensures public protection and provides juveniles with accountability and needed services.

The Community Supervision Officer may ask the Juvenile Justice Authority assigned interstate compact staff, to request the sending state close their file and document this request.
